A protocol for assessing histological changes and biometry in Ucides cordatus (Crustacea, Decapoda, Ocypodidae) using linear indices

Dear Ms Jesus,

Thank you for submitting your manuscript to Journal of Invertebrate Pathology.

I am pleased to inform you that your manuscript has been accepted for publication.

My comments, and any reviewer comments, are below.

Your accepted manuscript will now be transferred to our production department. We will create a proof which you will be asked to check, and you will also be asked to complete a number of online forms required for publication. If we need additional information from you during the production process, we will contact you directly.

We appreciate you submitting your manuscript to Journal of Invertebrate Pathology and hope you will consider us again for future submissions.

For further dissemination of your article we encourage you to tag @JInvertPathol in any promotion of your accepted paper on Twitter. If your paper concerns insects or parasites you may also wish to tag @ParasitologyEls

We encourage authors of original research papers to share the research objects – including raw data, methods, protocols, software, hardware and other outputs – associated with their paper. More information on how our open access Research Elements journals can help you do this is available at https://www.elsevier.com/authors/tools-and-resources/research-elements-journals?dgcid=ec_em_research_elements_email.

Kind regards,
Arun Kumar Dhar
Editor

Journal of Invertebrate Pathology

Editor and Reviewer comments:

The authors have addressed the reviewers' comments, and the manuscript can be considered for publication.
